out to right-field, Wallace's double and Gettig's safe bounder. Wallace drove the ball to the clubbouse in left-centre, and made the circult, but the umpire sent him back to second and Reeve to third. Siebric had sent a fly to Brodle, and Bowen ended the Roanoke agony by popping one up to Manager Clark. The game, while too one-sided to be a contest, delighted the crowd, and enabled the local players to increase their litting averages. Every man on the team got a hit save Saive, and the brilliant work of the young side, wheeler in the box fully atoned for his failure to contribute to the batting matinee.
